Heard.

The present petition is filed against an order of taking cognizance. The trial court after taking cognizance has summoned the accused. A revision petition was submitted before the revisional court. The revisional court has found that no case of interference is made out. Once the revisional court has found that no case of interference is made out, it is not for this Court to interfere under Section 482 Cr.P.C. all over again because there is only one right of revision which has been granted under the Code. The jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is exercised only in exceptional circumstances which are not made out in this case.

With these observations, the misc. petition is not entertained and is hereby dismissed.

(BHAGWATI PRASAD), J.
